

World Exchanges Summit 2027

The world's open, venue-neutral listings marketplace. Companies that want to list meet the exchanges, investors and advisers that can take them public — in pre-booked 1:1 meetings, not panels.

At a glance

When	Sunday-Monday, September 19-20, 2027
Where	New York City, during UN General Assembly week
Sunday	Invite-only Exchange Leaders' Day — CEOs, regulators and ministers
Monday	Open Global Listings Marketplace — opening bell, Meeting Grid, Listing Clinics, Pitch Stage
Who	Exchanges, companies preparing to list (IPOs, bonds, cross-listings), investors, bankers, lawyers and advisers
Presented by	Stock Raises and Global Financial Bridge

Why now

Global equity markets are worth about $116.6 trillion across 49,054 listed companies (WFE, end-2024). IPO money has come back — about $287.5B raised in the first nine months of 2026, a record (EY) — but the number of IPOs fell to 888 from 922. The capital is concentrated in fewer, larger deals, while the number of small US listed companies has fallen about 70% since 2000. Companies preparing to list have no single place to compare every venue.

How it works

March 2027	Matchmaking opens: companies, exchanges and investors register and are pre-qualified
May-July	Two-sided matching on mutual interest; meetings booked in advance
September	Two summit days in New York; every meeting tracked
After	Year-round deal room, quarterly briefings and the Global Listings Pipeline Report

Five zones

Exchange Floor	Equal-footprint pavilions for exchanges from every region
Meeting Grid	Pre-booked 1:1 meetings between companies, exchanges and investors
Listing Clinics	Practical sessions on listing requirements, costs and timelines by region
Pitch Stage	Pre-qualified companies present to investors
Main Stage	Opening bell, keynotes and the New York Listings Commitment

The New York Listings Commitment

A voluntary pledge for exchanges to publish SME listing costs and timelines in a common, comparable format — making it easier for growing companies to choose where to list.

Neutral by design

A Founding Exchange Council, the same size pavilion for every exchange, open access for advisers and published matching rules. No single exchange or bank owns the room.
